OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

THERE REALLY ARE some regular readers of this column, we are happy to know.

Sometimes, of course, we sorta wish that the so-called "constant readers" would find something better to do with their time.

But, that really isn't true.

Even when we are bawled out because of something that appeared in this column, we like it.

That could be sort of masochistic, (according to psychiatrists).

(Webster reports that means "gratification gained from pain inflicted on oneself"...we threw that in for the benefit of those who don't have a dictionary as handy as we do).

Anyway we reported a couple of weeks ago in this column that Jack Healey, longtime member of the Planning Commission and former chairman of that body, suffered a broken shoulder in an intercity softball game (Cupertino vs. Campbell) when he fell going after a long fly.

THAT REPORT WAS erroneous. We stand corrected.

Healey has informed us specifically and critically where we went wrong.

We had mentioned in the same column that City Manager Bob Stephens, who had professional ball playing experience in his younger days, had also suffered a painful injury, a hair-line fracture of his arm, in a previous ball game.

So now for our correction and addition of Healey's activity, right from the commissioner himself:

1) Healey also played semi-pro ball in his youth. That was not indicated.

2) Healey was going after a long sinking line drive (not a "long fly" which was the way the column reported it).

3) Healey caught the sinking line drive. (That also was not mentioned.)

4) Healey suffered a broken collar bone. It was not a shoulder injury as the column stated.

We sincerely hope that we now have the record straight.

From now on let the fly balls drop where they will.

FOR MORE YEARS than we care to enumerate, U. S. Representative Charles Gubser has submitted a weekly column (" On Capitol Hill" with "Charlie" Gubser) to this newspaper.

In his column, which this paper is pleased to publish each week, (along with most of the other newspapers in the district represented by Congressman Gubser), the congressman does an excellent job of "grass-rooting" and brings into focus for the people of his district (10th) many of the activities in Washington that otherwise would be quite far-removed from our daily routine.

Charlie has represented our district over the past 17 years. He has become so much of a fixture that we have taken it for granted that all our readers were familiar with his congressional status.

But the column, "On Capitol Hill", does not mention that Gubser is a congressman.

Recently we received a call from a West Valley College student who mentioned that he was writing a report on an "editorial" written by one of the members of our staff.

He wanted to know something about this particular person's background, education, etc. and how long he had worked for us on the paper.

The "editorial" he was reporting on was "On Capitol Hill"!

We politely informed him that Charlie was a U. S. representative. He was a contributor and not really a member of GETTING NOWHERE--Dave Valkenaar, representing the Campbell JayCees, displays a proposed entrance sign for the City of Campbell that would be placed on the W. Hamilton Ave. median strip at the west end of town.

The JayCees will build the sign. It would be illuminated and the cost for the electrical work could be $3000 at the suggested location.

A motion by Councilman Dean Chamberlin Monday night to accept the sign with no illumination deadlocked at 2-2. Mayor Homer Hyde had to second it, to even get a vote on it. Councilman Bill Smeed and Ralph Doetsch voted in opposition. Councilman Ed Rogers was absent but had written a note accepting the design concept but opposed spending the $3000 for the illumination and the plasticized material used.

No one would hazard a guess as to what the JayCees will do now with their entrance sign that has no place to go.

Chickens, horses get break from Campbell

Nostalgic memories of the rural past of this community were revived at the City Council meeting Monday night with chickens and horses as star performers.

A Campbell poultry raiser found something to crow about at the meeting when it was ruled that his chickens were "non-conforming" and thus not subject to any current city ordinance.

And there is no city ordinance that prohibits the keeping of horses within the city limits.

Provided, of course, no nuisance or health hazard is created.

Research by the city staff revealed that Norman Karnes, of 1819 Hacienda, was in the chicken business prior to 1963 when his property was annexed to the city.

The City annexation policy allows continuation of the same land use when any property is annexed, even if it does not conform to the city regulations, unless a nuisance is created.

Campbell's ordinance al-

City endorses housing push

That the City of Campbell is concerned over the lack of low and moderate income housing within the city limits and that the city administration will cooperate in every way possible to alleviate the problem became a matter of public record Monday night.

The resolution, which was adopted officially affirming the City's position on the problem, specifies that the City will not displace people without first aiding them in finding substitute quarters.

Adopted unanimously by the four councilmen present (Councilman Ed Rogers is on vacation), it lists eight areas of concern.

It was drafted by City Manager Bob Stephens and was based on the results of the study session between representatives of United Progreso Arriba and the city administration held on July 1.

The resolution, although general in scope, puts the City on the spot immediately, as five dwellings between Central and Harrison on which the new library is to be constructed are in the process of being acquired by the City.

Councilman Dean Chamberlin first felt that the resolution should pinpoint this particular area but agreed that perhaps a policy statement in the minutes would serve the purpose better.

However, the Council got hung up on the wording of the statement.

Councilman Bill Smeed maintained that the statement should encompass all displaced people no matter what their income was and that the policy should not be limited to the library problem.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina got into the act. But his wording of the proposed statement also had loopholes and, as Mayor Homer Hyde pointed out, it was confined to the low and moderate income group.

It was finally decided to defer the policy statement to the next meeting when it was hoped that the wording would meet with everyone's approval.

No fault was found with the basic concept of the remainder of the resolution either by the councilmen or by representatives of United Progreso Arriba who were present.

The resolution calls for continued exploration of all governmental financial programs and that the City will give high priority to housing in the proposed Neighborhood Planning Program now under way.

It also specifies that the City Council and Redevelopment Agency will seek the advice and active support of representatives of low and moderate income people in any future plans for the downtown business district or the Dillon-Gilman-Railway area.

City clears way for civic center complex

This week the last two structures on the 12-lot city-owned parcel, just north of the present City Hall on Central, were removed by a bulldozer, clearing the way for the next step in the construction of the first phase of the long-awaited civic center complex.

The new city hall, including the police facilities, will be constructed on the 12-lot site totalling approximately three acres.

Funds for the civic center come from the $835,000 bond issue approved by the voters in October, 1967.

According to Jeff Whitaker, city finance director, the 11 lots in the area between Central and First and north to Grant, cost $185,250. Bond money was used to purchase them.

The city some years ago had acquired a double-lot in the area for $19,100. Thus the total land cost was $204, 350 for the 12 lots.

The acquisition of the property began early in the year, Whitaker reports, and the City cooperated with the property owners as to the time when the parcels were to be cleared.

At the present time the City's acquisition agent is negotiating for the purchase of seven lots between Central and Harrison Ave. just north of the Ainsley parking lot.

The new library will be located on this site.

In October, 1967, as part of the total $2,600,000 civic improvement bond issue, the voters approved $400,000 for library construction.

Under a joint powers agreement with the county, the City will construct the library and then lease it to the county library district that serves Campbell which is financed under a special library tax.

Since the passage of the bond issue, George Farrier, county librarian, has been successful in obtaining approval of additional federal funds for the new library, allowing for an expansion to the original plans but necessitating the acquisition of more property by the City.

The proposed library will be separate from the civic center and will be directly across from the present city hall. The site has approximately 240-feet frontage on both Harrison and Central with a depth of 280-feet.

Bond money, Whitaker points out, is also available for site acquisition and construction of the library. He explains that the necessary bonds have already been sold.

According to the present plans of city officials, the old city hall will not be demolished until the new civic center complex is completed.

The present city hall (built before the turn of the century and used as the Congregational Church for 60 years), will be on the landscaped portion or parking area of the new complex.

The proposed "loop" street will run between the present city hall and the fire station.

City officials have been holding study sessions with Bill Hedley, local architect, on the proposed site use and architectural design of the civic center complex. It is hoped that actual construction will start early next year.

Rincon project gets others rolling

Rincon Ave., east of Winchester Blvd., has been transformed in recent months from one of the worst neighborhood residential streets to one of the best through a joint effort of the property owners and the City.

And it may be the forerunner for a number of similar street projects in the city.

The total cost of the reconstruction of the street, including the installation of curbs, gutters and sidewalks, was $34,097.14.

It was the first project in the city to take advantage of the $800,000 street improvement bond money that was approved by the voters in October, 1967.

Under a unique formula devised to stretch the bond money as far as possible, the City puts up two-thirds of the cost of such projects and the property owners affected take care of one-third.

Because of the success of this first project under the formula, plans for a number of other neighborhood street jobs are on the drafting table.

One area that is now in the final planning stage is the Sunnyside-Kennedy sector.

The street improvement projects are under the direction of the city's public works department.

Bill Helms, of that department, explains that the project is actually accomplished under the Local Improvement District program, wherein 60% of the property owners involved can get the job going rather than having to wait for unanimous property owner agreement.

The "LID" also allows the assessment costs to be financed at low interest rates for 15 years, if desired.

Helms points out that in the Rincon project (LID No. 19), the owners of the 36 parcels on the street based on the one-third/two-thirds formula were assessed $11,261.76 of the total cost of $34,097.14. This figures out at about $6.00 per frontage foot, or about $300 per lot.

The balance of the costs, $22,825.32 were paid by the City from the 1967 street bond fund.

The street was widened to the full 40-feet. It was only 20-feet previously. (The rights-of-way, Helms adds, however, had been previously acquired.) Curbs, gutters, sidewalks, street lights and storm drain catch basins were also installed.

The Kennedy-Sunnyside street, that is now being discussed with the property owners concerned, will be a more costly job but the same basic formula will be used, Helms said.

Building lags behind last year

Building in Campbell for the first six months of 1969 is lagging behind the same period last year, despite a surge in commercial activity. The "lag" is due to the lack of construction of single-family dwellings this year, according to the report of Wally Byron, city building official.

The total to date this year is $4,152,314.75 compared to $4,853,354 last year.

Only two permits have been issued this year for single family dwellings (one in June) for a total of $47,728.

Last year at this time there had been 105 permits (43 in June alone) for a total of $2,214.227.

Construction of duplexes and multiples has also dropped this year. In the first six months last year, 36 permits issued in those two categories accounted for $1,256,463.

This year there have been only 13 such permits for $662,407.

In the industrial building there also has been a slacking off.

For the first six months last year there had been 10 permits for industrial buildings for a total of $665,707, compared to six this year in the same period for $354.508. There was one permit in June to Reed Surber Associates at 1210 Camden Ave. for $68, 340.

But it is a different story in the commercial division.

For the first six months this year, there have been 15 permits issued for commercial structures totaling $2,638,714. Last year in the same period there had been only eight permits issued for $427,032.

The permit for "The Towers", the 18-story office building at Campbell-Bascom, issued early in the year was the main reason for the big hike in this category.

During June there were three permits issued for commercial buildings. Heading the field was a $200,970 permit issued to Ira Kirkorian on San Tomas Road at Campbell Ave. Humble Oil took out a $35,000 permit for 2505 Winchester and Allen & Associates was issued a permit for $34,447 for a professional building at 1374 E. Hamilton.

There was a gain also in swimming pools this year over last. For the first six months last year only 10 permits for pools for $32,100 were issued.

This year there have been 14 permits for pools for $48, 200. There were six such permits issued in June.

Council sets up park procedure

Because various proposals for the improvement and use of public parks within the city are being received, the City Council Monday night established a procedure for such requests in the future.

The procedure policy had been approved previously by the Parks and Recreation Commission which will be responsible in most cases in the processing of the requests.

The Council, however, eliminated the clause which would have prohibited profit-making activities, feeling that there were enough safeguards without it.

Paper pollution

The following brief item recently appeared in a daily newspaper in the area as a gripe presented by a reader under the heading "Sound Off".

We were so impressed by the "message" that we are printing it in full; (Admittedly this newspaper is prejudiced).

"It is not enough that our men in Sacramento are working on massive pollution problems, but it is the duty of every citizen to do their part.

"The most irritating form of pollution is the kind I find on my door step every day when I come home from work.

"It is in the form of hand bills and leaflets that are strewn about telling me how much money I can save by shopping here and there.

"I find these stuck in my mail box, under the door mat, wedged in my door and hung on my door knob.

"I not only don't read these unwanted flyers, but I do make a note of the businesses which send them out and automatically cross these firms off my list of places to shop.

"I only wish that I could get the home addresses of the operators of some of these businesses so I could give them my full collection of garbage which they have sent to my house."

We have long felt the same way about the unwanted flyers and circulars that fill our trash bin.

However, when a newspaperman offers such criticism, he would be accused of allowing his prejudice to show. It could be claimed with some justification that money spent by the merchant on these unread and unwanted flyers simply means that the merchant will have less money to spend in advertising in a community weekly newspaper such as The Campbell Press.

Naturally The Press has pointed out on many occasions to potential advertisers that they are not getting their dollar value for their advertising when a householder throws the flyers away without even looking at it.

But on too many occasions our message has fallen on deaf ears.

Maybe, however, this gripe of a householder will help get the message across and make believers out of them.

We doubt it.

But people DO READ The Campbell Press BEFORE they throw it away.

And that includes the advertising.

Saratoga police

Now under scrutiny by both the Campbell and Saratoga councils is the feasibility report on the consolidation of police forces for the two cities.

The study was prepared by Police Chief John D. Morgan of Campbell at the suggestion of the Saratoga City Council.

Since incorporation the City of Saratoga has contracted with the county sheriff's department for its police service.

Saratoga by this contract is guaranteed a certain amount of patrolling by the sheriff's department for a certain set figure which, of course, is subject to normal increase from time to time.

If more services are desired, the sheriff's department will charge more, naturally.

Saratoga city officials are concerned in obtained the best possible police protection at the lowest cost to the citizens and taxpayers.

Saratoga apparently is faced with the need for additional police protection at the present time and the officials of that city are exploring all phases and alternatives of the situation.

We think it is highly complimentary to this city and its police department that one of the alternatives in which Saratoga has expressed interest is the possible consolidation of police services for Saratoga with Campbell.

The Campbell Police Department has built an enviable record under Police Chief Morgan.

And apparently our department's excellent reputation is not confined solely to this locality.

Morgan's preliminary study indicated that it would cost Saratoga about $150,000 per year, if the services were consolidated.

Ironically that's about the figure that Saratoga will probably pay for its contract with the sheriff's department this year.

It will be interesting to see what the Saratoga city officials come up with on this matter.

Times are changing.

Rarely has Campbell had anything in the past that Saratoga wanted.

our regular staff.

Our caller had nothing further to say.

Wonder if he is a political science major?

IT IS NOT OFTEN THAT a dinky little community newspaper has an opportunity to learn about a major news break before its big brothers in the field.

But that happened to us last week.

At home on Saturday afternoon we received a call from an editor on the Dallas (Texas) News who was anxious to locate Craig Morton. He wondered if he was in Campbell at his parent's (Ken and Maxine Morton).

He did not have their phone number or address.

We furnished the number. In response to our anxious query as to whether something serious had happened, the Dallas editor suggested that one could possibly say that.

Don Meredith, the Dallas Cowboys long-time quarterback, he informed us, had just announced his retirement and Craig, his understudy for the past three years, would now be "Number One".

We suggested that Craig, the former Campbell High star athlete and All-American from Cal before entering the pro football ranks, had been "number one" in the opinion of quite a few. The guy from Texas agreed that there were a number in Dallas who felt the same way.

It turned out that Craig was not in town but was fishing.

We noted in the "big story" the next day, that Craig had learned about Meredith's retirement on the radio while returning from a fishing trip.

So The Campbell Press knew about it before he did.

BASCOM AVENUE FROM Hamilton past the city limits is going to be torn up for some time to come because of the major street project that has just begun, one of the biggest in this city's history.

(Piazza Paving Co., with a bid of $511,050 got the job, so you get some idea of what is contemplated.)

During the past few weeks, preliminary skirmishing has taken place, one might say.

Sanitation District No. 4 moved in to install a pipe-line and the Piazza people have been running lines, cutting trees and in general just getting ready for the big push.

The work of Sanitation District No. 4 has somewhat prepared the people in the general area for what is to come on a more major scale.

They have resigned themselves to their fate and recognize that they will probably have to undergo considerable inconvenience while the construction work is going on.

There were some extra loud growls, however, from a few after the sewer lines had been laid because of the way the workmen "cleaned" up their mess at the intersections.

In some cases they simply turned the hose on the loose dirt and washed it down the gutters of the residential streets, where it proceeded to harden in the gutters in front of the homes.

They hope the street crews will be a little more considerate.

They will probably have more dirt to play with.

WITH SOME TREPIDATION we joined Kevin Salmon, leasing agent for "The Towers", on a trip to the top via the outside elevator.

We didn't get off at the top.

There was no floor.

But we did wander around the ninth floor.

It was an interesting experience and a lot of pictures were shot.

Somehow we think we will enjoy the view more some months hence when it is all enclosed.

That IS a long way down.

Even by elevator.

THE LAST TO GO---Only a pile of rubble remains where a building formerly stood on First St. at the rear of the present city hall. North of the city hall between First and Central and south of Grant, the City acquired 12 lots on which the new civic center complex will be constructed from bond funds voted in October, 1967. This week marked the completion of the clearing of all buildings from the 12 lots, approximately three acres. The new library will be built on seven lots between Central and Harrison.

Chickens

lows a maximum of 50 chickens and no rooster over four months old.

But it is estimated that there are 150 chickens in the Karnes' poultry spread and at least half of them are roosters.

The matter came before the City Council when residents on nearby Del Loma Drive complained about the chickens, citing that the roosters crowed frequently day and night, flies gathered and dust rose.

The property had been inspected by the County Health Department which found that no significant health problem was involved, the Council learned.

Karnes, who was present to defend his chicks, said he would welcome inspections by health authorities at any time.

In the horse case before the Council, a group of residents on Audrey and Steinway had complained about the five horses kept on the property of Mrs. Adelaide Roberts, 1198 Steinway.

They maintained that there should be some restriction on the number of horses allowed within the city limits.

Angelo Denevi, of 1225 Audrey, as spokesman for the protesting group claimed that youngsters rode all over the place in what appeared as a mini-rodeo, raising dust and noise; and that the horses appeared sickly and underfed.

Herbert L. Reaves, of 505 Sobrato, came to the mike to take exception to the complaints about the horses, claiming that horseback riding was great for the kids and there were few places left where the youngsters could have such fun.

Without any restrictive ordinance to go on and with no report from the health department on the situation, the Council voted to refer the horses to staff for further investigation.

City Planners meet Monday

Plans for a warehouse, a retail-commercial building, a 36-unit apartment complex and for a 121-space mobile home park will be up for approval by the Planning Commission next Monday, July 21.

The warehouse is at 715 McGlincey with Neil Hamm, the applicant. Ira Kirkorian, developer of Kirkwood Plaza, is seeking approval of the commercial building; William Enricco has submitted plans for a 36-unit apartment at 52 Michael Drive while Leo Freschi has submitted plans for the mobile home park off Camden Ave. on the creek.

A planned-development request is also on tap for a 52-unit apartment complex on Gale Drive.

Two pre-zoning public hearings on pending annexations were also scheduled. One area is on the south side of McGlincey west of Westchester and the other is on Whiteoaks where the parcels extend to Bascom.

INJURIES SUFFERED

Sandra Marlene Stromberg, 277 Wren Way, was treated at the Campbell Community Hospital and released after she suffered injuries in a car accident Monday night at the intersection of Latimer and Campbell avenues.

The Stromberg car was north bound on Winchester when a car driven by Harry T. Sands, 3180 Loma Verde turned in the intersection, striking the Stromberg vehicle. Sands was cited and booked in the county jail on drunk driving charges.

Third screen issue returns to Commission

Because an engineering study for a new traffic pattern for the Winchester Drive-In Theater was not completed at the time of the Planning Commission action, the City Council Monday night referred all the proposed modifications to the McGlincey Neighborhood plan back to the Commission.

The problem at hand is a landlocked parcel owned by the theater people adjacent to their present operation and on which they want to construct a third screen.

Residents in the area objected strenuously to the idea because of the heavy traffic in the neighborhood and felt that the third screen would further compound it.

The present zoning must be changed for the landlocked parcel before the third screen can be installed. The Planning Commission did not change the zoning, despite the pleas of Syufy Enterprises, owners of the theater.

CITY BOND SALE

Campbell's City Council will meet on Tuesday, July 22, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of opening bids for the sale of $325,000 in park bonds, part of the $625,000 bond issue that was passed on June 10.

Funds will be used to purchase the eight acres of property adjoining Rincon Park.

On Wednesday, July 30, the Council will also meet in a special session to discuss the civic center site plan and architectural design with Architect Bill Hedley.

On Monday night the Council also approved the specifications and the calling for bids for a new pumper for the Fire Department.

Campbell police records reflect quieter city

Police activities records for the first half of 1969 showed a slight decrease in number of cases processed according to the chart released by John Morgan, Campbell police chief

A downward trend in the total number of major crimes committed in the Campbell City limits was shown with 766 cases having been processed for 1969 to date compared with 780 for the same period last year.

Minor crime activities also dipped for the first six months with 553 reports being filed for 1969 as compared to 587 for 1968.

Adult and juvenile arrests both showed an upswing with 454 adults having been booked and 243 juveniles compared to 415 and 234 for 1968.

Campbell police were called out 5,131 times during the first part of 1969 on what are termed "service calls" such as barking dogs, lock-outs and checking residents homes for vacationers. Last year 4,985 calls of the same nature were performed.

However the chart does show that the increased traffic in Campbell has resulted in more accidents with 283 reports for 1967 against 227.

BOARD PRESIDENT---John Merriell, of 855 Robin Lane, Campbell, has been re-elected president of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District Board of Trustees for the 1969-70 school year.

Merriell, an engineer at Lockheed Missiles and Space Company in Sunnyvale, formerly served as president of the board during the 1963-1964 school year in addition to the 1968-1969 school year.

Also elected were Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong as vice president and James Gilliland was selected as clerk of the Board.

REAPPOINTED---Merrill Grim, of 340 Cameo Court, was reappointed Monday night by the City Council to a new four-year term on the Planning Commission.

ED NOTE:

Miss Alice Wiesendanger recently renewed her Campbell Press subscription, which dates back to June 6, 1911. Miss Wiesendanger is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wiesendanger who were active ranchers at the turn of the century at the corner of Saratoga Ave., and Moorpark. Two other sisters, Mabel and Delphia, and a brother William resided in the old home which was recently bought by the state for the Junipero Serra Expressway right of way.

Delphia is the sister referred to in the letter as the sister in Pennslyvania. Miss Wiesendanger, a physical education teacher in Santa Barbara, cared for her mother during a long last illness. She has now retired to the "gem stone mine" in Aguanga, California.

Aguanga, Ca.
June 29, 1969

Dear Editor:

In response to your nice letter of June 12, 1969 I wish to say that I thought I should give up the subscription to the Campbell Press when I moved to San Diego County to an old semi-precious gem stone mine. I began a letter to that effect but decided I could not do so since there are interesting articles about many fine friends who are active in Campbell affairs including Country Woman's Club.

Also my sister in Pennsylvania has many friends in Campbell and I cut out articles or sometimes send the entire paper.

Having had parents who were active in Campbell organizations and having gone to "Old Settler's Day Celebration when everyone knew everyone else and made lasting friendships, then spending 4 years in Campbell High School and making more fine friends, then belonging to Country Woman's Club renewing friendships and making more friends makes it impossible to give up the paper until such time as prices get so high that the aged have to give up such things.

Sincerely,
(Miss) Alice Wiesendanger.

COMPLETES BASIC---Airman William C. Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Maurer of 865 Stonehurst Way, Campbell, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., for training in the administrative field. Airman Maurer, a 1965 graduate of Camden High School, attended West Valley College.

Young folk singing group to tour states

Lee Jacobus, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Jacobus, 453 Milton Ave., will be touring 11 mid-west states starting July 26 as the co-producer of a traveling group of folk singers calling themselves "Twentieth Century 20".

The nine young people will be giving "benefit" performances July 18 and 19 at the Old Town Theater at both 8 and 10:30 p.m., before leaving on their tour, in order to raise enough money to eat on.

Jacobus and Bill Williams of Saratoga, have just returned from a swing around the country booking the group in various small towns in the tour circuit, which will take them as far as Mississippi. The five boys and four girls will be traveling in a car caravan and will be returning on Aug. 26. The average age of the young people is 18.

Jacobus, who graduated from Campbell High School is attending West Valley College where he is majoring in drama. He will be doubling as announcer and stage director for the traveling group.

Other members of the group include Vic Bellomo, Suzanne Buckley, Barbara Gibert, Barbara and Steve Kritzer, David Nylen, David Pace, Richard Primont and Jenny Vernaci.

"Come Fly With Us" theme of scenic flight

A special PSA scenic flight around the bay area is the project being planned by the "Chamber Women for Equal Rights". Organizers of the project are Ingela Butters of Marquis Travel, Faye Cupp of the Gaslighter Theater and Elaine Simon of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

Unlike the restriction of the stag golf tournament, the men are invited to join the ladies on the flight, scheduled to depart from the San Jose Municipal Airport at 10 p.m. on Saturday, July 26.

Tickets are available at the Campbell Chamber of Commerce; the phone number is 378-6252. The price of the tickets is $7.50 and all proceeds of the chartered champagne flight will be donated to the development of Rincon Park in Campbell.

COME FLY WITH US--Don Hebard, Campbell Parks and Recreation commission chairman, checks out the PSA plane chartered to carry Campbell passengers around the valley on a special champagne flight July 26. Proceeds from the flight will go toward improvement of the Rincon park. With Hebard are the lovely Campbell Chamber of Commerce ladies who organized the flight, from left to right, Elaine Simon, CofC secretary; Ingela Butters of the Marquis Travel and Faye Cupp, Gaslighter Theater.

Tower climb could prove fatal to trio

Three Campbell young men were cited for trespassing after they found the lure of the new 18 story "Tower" building on Bascom and Campbell avenues hard to resist and proceeded to climb to the top "just to climb it". The 10 p.m. climb was terminated when Campbell police officers apprehended the trio on the 14th floor, on their way down.

The steel frame structure is only a skeleton above the 14th floor, and only partially covered flooring laid below that, promising serious injury or death to the untrained person climbing the building.

Twelve dozen stolen ice cream bars could add up to one gigantic stomach ache. The Hamilton School, 480 E. Hamilton Ave., is missing 12 dozen ice cream bars after a vandal smashed in a window, pried open the cooler and proceeded to consume some of the stolen goods on the premises.

Today almost everything from poor weather to the price of liver is blamed on the military - industrial complex. And the public in its disenchantment with the war in Vietman is apparently believing what it is hearing. As a result drastic reductions in military spending are imminent. Personally I want to see military spending reduced, but I hope it can be done with reason and in a climate which is less emotional than that which prevails today.

Recently Mr. John T. Mc Carthy, Assistant to the President at Rockford College, wrote an interesting letter to the Editor of NEWSWEEK magazine on this subject. He said in part:

"Those of us who want peace in this world can remember the Kellogg Pact of August 1928 when almost all of the countries joined an agreement renouncing war and agreeing to settle differences in a peaceful way. Then came Hilter, Mussolini, Munich, and Pearl Harbor! Peace was restored only after the U. S. industrial arsenal of democracy provided the tools needed to destroy Hitler, Mussolini, and Tojo.

"I remind you and your readers that President Kennedy was leading from industrial strength during the Bay of Pigs crisis when he ordered the Communists to get their missiles out of Cuba.

"...I think you owe it to your readers to present these four facts: Fact 1. Defense is this nation's biggest industry employing 8.5 million people including 3.4 million in armed forces, 1.3 million defense department civilians, 3.8 million industrial workers. This is roughly one out of eight jobs in America...

"Fact 2. Defense today gets the same share of the U. S. Budget as it got in 1959. $78 billion in the Federal budget is 8.8% of our GNP and 43% of all Federal government outlays. Non-defense government spending has increased more than military.

"Fact 3. Subtract the cost of the Vietnam war and allow for inflation and armed forces have less buying power now than in 1960.

"Fact 4. Of the total of the $78 billion budget for defense, more than half of this goes for personnel and operating costs--$23 billion for personnel and $22 billion for operations including pay of defense department civilians. Thus, $33 billion is left for the 'military industrial complex' to spend. Of this, $7.5 billion goes for research and development including contracts with 350 colleges and other non-profit institutions." (Note: This total of more than $50 billion does not include a single plane, tank, gun or round of ammunition.)

"Finally, I want to remind you that America is spending less than 10% of its GNP on military expenditures...."(As compared to 42% in World War II and 30% in the Korean conflict.)

Mr. McCarty concluded by referring to the great and growing military strength of communism. Then he added. "Let's be thankful that we have a military-industrial complex and they don't..."

My own plea is for a deliberate and moderate approach to the defense budget. It should be cut, but not as drastically as some propose. The surest way to have a war is to be unprepared for one.

Rock shop gemslifted from display

Someone with a knowledge of gem stones made off with merchandise valued at $3500 from the Campbell Rock Shop 412 E. Campbell Ave. during the last week. According to Richard Bicker, owner, the items were very valuable, easily concealed, and were lifted from the display cabinets in the conference room.

The thief apparently made his haul by prying sliding cabinet doors off the tracks with a screwdriver, and helping himself while Bicker and his help were busy with customers in another part of the store.

Stolen items included silver dollars, halves, quarters, a gold nugget, $5 gold coin, black and green jade rings, and sapphire jewelry.

A color TV set was missing from the Michael Towne residence, 629 Laura Drive, Apt. A. Entry apparently was made through a window and the TV removed through the front door.

Two young ladies in Campbell were startled on two separate occasions to awaken in the early morning hours and discover a thief going through their purses.

Joyce Hallen of 504 Century Drive woke up at 5:25 a.m. on July 5 with the realization that someone was in her room. A slim young man was standing at her dresser with her wallet in his hands going through it. When Miss Hallen asked "What are you doing", he dropped the wallet and ran out the front door.

A man answering the same description had been found in the Ravenscourt home of Sharon Bramlett at 2 a.m. when a dog growling woke her up. She turned on the lights and entered the living room to find the burglar standing with her wallet in his hands. He made a hasty exit out the front door, taking her wallet with him. Entry had been made through a bathroom window.

Girl Scouts

ON SITE TRAINING--- Mothers who direct the day camp program for the Girl Scouts must first plan what they are going to do. Pictured above are a group taking "on site" training.

NEIGHBORHOOD 15
By Nan Warren

Mothers are the greatest!

"They took their hands and followed—" and the Santa Clara Girl Scout Council and Day Camp Directors are grateful they did. In the past two weeks since the end of the school year, approximately 4,398 campers have attended various Day Camps and Day and Stay programs throughout our council. It is chiefly due to the "mothers" who left their daily chores behind that day camp is possible. For without mothers to share their talents and guide these eager kids, none of this would be possible.

Thirty camps have already been successfully completed. A great many hours have been spent in preparation so the camps can run as smoothly as possible. The Girl Scout Council, of course, plans almost year round for improvements in methods, site locations and training.

Back in May and early June, the individual directors of each camp held their on-site training for the volunteer mothers. Already nearly 440 mothers have been actively working in the different camps throughout the Valley to help these young minds grow, learn and share in all the fun of Scouting.

There are still many, many eager campers awaiting "their turn". The July and August Camp Directors and "mothers" are making their final plans in anticipation. The entire camping program is on a volunteer basis. None of these "mothers" or directors are "paid" in any monetary way, but their payment comes in seeing the happy faces, feeling a warm and slightly dirty hand grasp theirs and the voice of a child saying – "I'm so glad you came to camp!"

Yes, – "They took their hands and followed...."

VOLUNTEERS

In early Massachusetts, before police forces were organized, able-bodied men, more than 16 years of age, were required to stand watch (night duty) or ward (day duty) to protect citizens against criminals.

PG&E brochure describes scenic spots of Sierra

The scenic beauty of Sierra lakes and streams in the Carson Pass area is illustrated in full color in an informative new brochure issued by Pacific Gas and Electric Company to describe its public recreation facilities in the region.

The free folder contains a striking perspective relief map showing the relationship of company facilities on the North Fork of the Mokelumne River and the Silver Fork of the American River. Access routes via State Routes 49,88, and 89 are shown,

Described in the publication are PG&E picnic areas and campgrounds at Silver Lake, Upper and Lower Blue Lakes, Salt Springs Reservoir, Tiger Creek regulator reservoir and afterbay, Lake Tabeaud and Electra Powerhouse. A key indicates the types of recreation available at each location. A brief history of placer and quartz mining in the Mother Lode is given.

The Carson Pass brochure joins a series describing company recreation facilities which are open to the public throughout Northern and Central California. Others include: Your Guide to PG&E Campgrounds and Picnic Areas; Lake Almanor; Gold, Power and Recreation (the Yuba River); Pit River Country and Welcome to Bass Lake.

The folders are available at local PG&E offices, or by writing to the Company

ISABELLE MYER

A short illness claimed the life of Mrs. Isabelle Rutherford Myer on July 6. A native of Kalamazoo, Mich., she was born on Feb. 8, 1981.

She had lived in Campbell for the last 40 years and was the widow of a retired farmer. She made her home at 223 Shelley Ave., and had been active for many years as a registered nurse.

Mrs. Myer was the mother of Mrs. Elizabeth Caravelli of Campbell; Carl R. Myer of West Covina and Paul J. Myer of Waco, Texas. She was also the sister of Mrs. Helen Rinkert of Oakland and the grandmother of seven grandchildren.

Services were held at the Campbell Memorial Chapel with the Rev. John Klinepeter of the Neighborhood Church conducting.

Final burial was at the Los Gatos Memorial Park.

PAULINE TAYLOR

Funeral services were held Monday, July 14 from the Campbell Memorial Chapel for Mrs. Pauline Lucille Taylor, who passed away July 11 in a hospital following a long illness.

A native of Xenia, Ohio, Mrs. Taylor had resided in this area for 30 years. She would have been 60 years old on August 7.

Mrs. Taylor was the wife of the late James R. Taylor and the mother of James K., Jerry L., Robert and Dennis Taylor and Mrs. Diane Danforth, all of Campbell. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Olive Gundy of San Jose; Mrs. Louise Snyder and a brother, Raymond Kelso, both of Washington. Other survivors include 10 grandchildren.

Officiating at the services was the Rev. C. W. Johnson. Burial was at the Santa Clara City cemetery.

PHIL MAXFIELD

Memorial services will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m. for Phil R. Maxfield, 54, director of education at Del Mar High School who passed away suddenly July 9 while vacationing with his family in Puget Sound, Washington.

Maxfield, former dean of boys at Camden High School from 1955-59, was stricken with a heart attack at the family summer home on Orcas Island. He served as a camp director for the YMCA before joining the Campbell High School District.

Maxfield was first associated with the development of the new Camden High School and was so successful that he was transferred to guide the Del Mar High School which opened in 1959.

Maxfield was the son of missionary parents and was born in the Philippine Islands. A resident of the Santa Clara Valley since 1942, he made his home at 14683 Berry Way. He was a member of the Cambrian Park Lions Club.

Services will be held in the chapel of the St. Francis Episcopal Church in Willow Glen. Contributions to the Heart Fund would be welcomed.

Survivors include his wife, Irene and his two children, William and Phyllis. He also leaves two sisters, Florence Billiland of Weston, Oregon and Alice Shorrock of Seattle.

New drug abuse crisis program plans drop in center for youths

Plans have been announced by Robert Campos, Santa Clara County Drug Abuse Control Coordinator, on the formation of a Drug Crisis Program.

"We'll probably be open until 10 or 12 each night. It will be a modified drop-in center for adolescents with drug problems." Campos said.

The intent of the new program is to develop a Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic atmosphere inside what some young people call the 'establishment'.

The Santa Clara County Drug Abuse Clinic has been so successful in its community involvement that it was named by Governor Reagan's Task Force on Drug Abuse as the state prototype.

The county clinic has also been designated as a model program in drug abuse in David E. Smith, the head of the Haight-Ashbury Medical Clinic in San Francisco.

The ten-month old clinic has a wide range of services. There are inpatient services on the psychiatric ward at Valley Medical Center and the clinic also maintains outpatient services which include detoxification, therapy, and even job guidance.

Campos feels the clinic's most successful aspect is its community involvement. There are a great number of volunteers which work at the clinic. Some examples of volunteers are two ex-nuns, lawyers, a Montessori teacher, a former member of the Hell's Angels, nurses, physicians and several ex-patients of the clinic.

The most unusual volunteer project to date was a first aid field station maintained at the recent Rock Festival by volunteer teenagers. This was in operation 24 hours a day and manned entirely by teenagers. The field station operated quietly among the large crowds and did on-the-spot help. Many people were talked out of taking drugs and consequently kept from jail and the hospital.

Campos feels that after last year's Rock Festival, with its 60 cases of drug poisoning, the work of the volunteers this year was very successful.

The clinic also maintains indirect services such as consultation, in-service training, program development, teaching, supervision and a public speakers program.

The clinic is planning with law enforcement agencies to establish intervention teams called "Flying Squads". The teams would be made up of a physician, a Registered Nurse or Social Worker and one teenage volunteer. The "Flying Squads" would be on call at the County clinic for any drug crisis situation.

For more information on the clinic, or the volunteer program the public can call the Crisis phone number 297-1636 Extension 354 end your ice follies.

Get a no frost refrigerator-freezer.

Nobody has to do the old song and dance with sloppy, melted ice anymore. Nor the pushing and shoving and chipping and cracking that went with defrosting ... along with spills on the floor. So why do it?

New refrigerator-freezers don't form frost—anywhere. And with no frost, there's no defrosting chore. New thin-wall refrigerator-freezers provide more storage space in the same floor space—they're bigger inside but no bigger outside. And automatic ice-makers make ice tray bother a thing of the past.

See your dealer for a no frost refrigerator-freezer and end your ice follies forever. PG and E

Gaslighter Theater group entertains hospital patients

Members of the cast of the Gaslighter Theater of Campbell stepped out of their usual stage setting recently to bring an afternoon of fun and memories to the guests of the two Beverly Manors Convalescent Hospitals in Los Gatos.

Titled "An Afternoon of Olios" Don Cupp, manager of the group of working people who have fun producing their shows at the old Campbell Theater on Friday and Saturday nights, led his cast of nine in presenting their variety acts before the very appreciative audience. They latter toured the wards to greet patients who were not able to attend the group performance.

During some of the acts the patients responded by remarking how much they enjoyed the show and as one man in a wheelchair said after one of the women cast members had flirted with him during her act, "I may not be able to chase them anymore, but it sure gives me something to dream about again."

The Gaslighter Theater group were brought to the Beverly Manor by Mrs. Georgie Angell, activity director, as part of the program to bring "more than care" to the patients.

Participating in the program were Faye Cupp, theatrical producer for the group; Keith Bentley, private investigator; Nancy Bentley, who is studying to be a nurse; Robin Welch, piano player who attends San Jose State; Jeanie Kaye, housewife; Linda Mc Kee, clerk; Carl Aydelotte, space technician; Carol Weston, housewife and Hamilton Ryder, electronic technician.

The Gaslighter Theater is currently presenting "The Country Constable" through the rest of July at their remodeled Campbell Theater. Following their melodrama a varied program of olios is presented.
